

Plan to Kick Biggs Upstairs to Judgeship Runs Afoul Tom Blanton

WASHINGTON — A neat plan has been worked out to kick genial J. Crawford Biggs upstairs and out of the all-important job as Solicitor General of the Justice Department.

The plan is to make him judge of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia where he will no longer have to present delicate questions of New Deal constitutionality before the Supreme Court.

The difficulty is, however, that no vacancy now exists on the Court of Appeals bench. To remedy this, a bill has been introduced creating another judgeship.

This, in turn, has run afoul of Texas Representative Tom Blanton, who says—with some justice—that no new judges are needed, that making a place for Biggs is pure extravagance, and that once a judgeship is created it will never be abolished.

So far Tom has been adamant. But immediately after he expressed his opposition, Mrs. Blanton was invited to lunch at the White House.

Proof

Commerce Secretary Dan Roper has indisputable evidence that his campaign to publicize himself is necessary.

He was an honor guest the other night at a banquet in the Capital. A friend introduced him to Josh Lee, rookie Democratic Congressman and former head of the public speaking department of the University of Oklahoma.

"Mr. Roper is Secretary of Commerce," the friend explained. "I am glad to meet you, Mr. Roper." Lee said. "You are secretary of the Washington Chamber of Commerce?"

"No, no," corrected the friend. "Mr. Roper is Secretary of Commerce. You know, a member of the President's cabinet."

Another Manchuria

Behind Italy's present troop movements against Abyssinia is one of the worst diplomatic deals in recent European dickerings.

Many people have guessed at it, but substantiating evidence is contained in the secret files of the State Department.

When the first skirmish occurred between Italian and Abyssinian troops, Mussolini roared that Italy was in the right. Witnesses report, however, his troops fired first, and they were on Abyssinian soil.

These were the reports received by the League of Nations from neutral officers who were on the spot.

However, when Abyssinia endeavored to place her dispute before the Council of the League, it was subtly made known that France would vote against her. This, perhaps was to be expected in view of the Laval-Mussolini concord.

But in addition to this, it was made known that Great Britain would vote against her.

In other words the French and British had agreed that since there were no more colonies to be doled out to Italy—except at their expense—Mussolini was to expand at the expense of the only independent country in Africa.

So, knowing the dice were loaded, Abyssinia did not place her dispute before the Council.

NOTE—Abyssinia can trace its independence back to 400 B.C., earlier than any country in Europe. Emperor Haile Selassie claims descent from Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

MCCRADY NAMED CHIEF OF POLICE

MRS. MOYER, 77, BURNS TO DEATH

AGED WOMAN IS FOUND BY GROCERY BOY

Body Found Lying in Front of Stove in W. High Home Early Friday

MOTHER OF MAYOR

Burned Early in Morning, is Belief

Mrs. Susan Moyer, 77, mother of Mayor Charles E. Moyer, of Lancaster, was found burned to death in the kitchen of her home, 136 W. High-st., at 8:20 a. m. Friday by William Hudson, W. High-st. delivery boy for the John W. Walters grocery.

Hudson had gone to the Moyer home to solicit an order. He followed his usual custom of walking into the house without knocking and found Mrs. Moyer dead on the floor.

How she met her death will never be known. She suffered a fractured hip several years ago and had walked with the aid of a crutch since that time. It is believed she awakened early, as usual, and went to her old-fashioned gas stove to light the fire. It is possible she raised one lid, struck the match and ignited the flame, then reached to light a rear flame. Her clothing might have caught fire at that time. It was also expressed as possible that she suffered a stroke while lighting the fire and fell over the flame, then to the floor.

House Not Ignited

That the house did not burn surprised neighbors. The only burned place was on the linoleum floor of the kitchen where her body was found. The shape of her body was outlined on the floor.

Mrs. Moyer went to her death about 7 a. m. as near as the tragedy could be reconstructed. Her bed had been slept in eliminating the belief that she might have died Thursday evening.

Mrs. Moyer had been a resident of W. High-st. about six years removing here from Tarlton. She was born Oct. 1, 1857 a daughter of John Glick and Samia Reisinger. Her husband, William Moyer, died in 1902.

Besides her son, the Lancaster mayor, she is survived by two daughters, Etha, wife of Bixler Allen of Akron, and Letha, wife of Clarence Bushee of Laurelville. Six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. The body is at the Albaugh Co. chapel.

COMPROMISE GAS RATE EXPECTED

CHILLICOTHE, March 1—The 48-cent gas rate approved by council a year ago was repealed Wednesday evening when council met in a special session. Only one dissenting vote was cast, that by O. J. Hayes.

It is expected council will now seek a compromise with the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

A report that council intended to refuse to pay $1,300 due Burns and McDonald for their survey of the gas company property which resulted in a rate adverse to the city's expectations was spiked when one councilman said: "What is the use of paying a lawyer $1,000 to fight the case then have to pay $1,300 more to the engineers?"

Merchants Ordered to Tear Tax Stamps

COLUMBUS, Mar. 1 — All Ohio merchants were being instructed by the tax commission today to tear the sales tax stamps in two before handing them to customers in order to prevent their re-use.

Carlton Dargusch said the order would go into effect as soon as all vendors can be notified. Violation, he warned, is a misdemeanor.

Chicago Police Trying to Rescue Half-Starved Dog

CHICAGO, March 1—Some of the best minds in the police department turned today to the plight of a half-starved dog afloat for four days on a small raft 257 feet below street level in the abandoned Damen ave. stone quarry.

Should rescue efforts fail the dog will be shot with a police long-range rifle.

One man offered to lower himself on cables to the water level and rescue the hapless animal. It was disclosed by Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin's dog refuge, but Quarry Superintendent George Crowden refused permission.

The dog either fell or was thrown into the deep pit, it is believed, and survived the fall. Ice ledges held the animal up at first, but the dog climbed on a floating oil drum when the ice broke up.

INDIANA COPS HUNT KARPIS

Desperado Reported Seen in Automobile With Three Companions

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Mar. 1—Director of Public Safety Al G. Feeney today said that two details of state police were patrolling northern Indiana highways following the report that Alvin Karpis, nation's No. 1 gangster, was seen driving out of Elkhart, Ind., early this morning.

State police from Michigan City and Ligonier barracks were put into action when they were told that Karpis and three companions riding in a Packard sedan with an Indiana dealers' license plate were headed toward Mishawaka, Ind.

DETROIT, March — Michigan state police broadcast a bulletin at 7:30 this morning that Alvin Karpis and three companions were reported driving between Elkhart and Mishawaka, Ind.

The bulletin said Karpis was in a Packard sedan bearing Indiana license No. M-1557. Karpis was said to have left Elkhart shortly after 7 o'clock.

All officers were warned to shoot to kill if they met up with the desperadoes.

"PROXY" MARRIAGE ANNULLED IN COURT

The suit of Henry C. Barr, of Tarlton, guardian of William P. Shoppell, Columbus, who died recently in Berger hospital, has won his suit in Franklin-co. common pleas court to have Shoppell's marriage to Mrs. Dema Raine annulled.

The marriage was by proxy Barr charged with Shoppell waiting outside the parsonage of a Greenup, Ky. parson while an attorney represented him. The woman by virtue of the annulment is barred from a share of Shoppell's $24,000 estate.

MOTOR STRIKE FEARED WITH VOTE CALLED

About 200,000 Men Would be Affected if Walk-Out is Voted

LOSS TO INDUSTRY

Success Depends on Strength of Unions

DETROIT, March 1—The American Federation of Labor today announced it has asked its membership in the motor plants to decide whether a general automobile strike shall be called.

Francis J. Dillon, chief auto plant organizer, announced at 10:30 a. m. today, that the auto workers council of the A. F. of L. has ordered a strike vote in the federation's 176 automobile unions. If the workers vote to strike, the council will call the walkout, affecting approximately 200,000 men, Dillon said.

Any widespread and effective motor strike would be certain to inflict grave damage upon the rising prosperity of the automobile industry, which is in the midst of its best year since 1929.

Membership Declined

Whether the federation of labor locals have sufficient membership to make a strike effective at this time, is unknown. Elections held by the automobile labor board to choose collective bargaining representatives have resulted in only about a five percent vote for A. F. of L. candidates. But the labor leaders explain this by the claim

RELIEF WORK CARRIED ON

Davey to Administer $4,000, 000 Federal Fund As Legislators Go Home

COLUMBUS, March 1—Without a legal relief organization for the first time in two years, the state government today continued to provide for Ohio's 1,200,000 indigent on a temporary emergency basis.

Governor Davey received from the federal government a $4,000, 000 grant to be administered by him until the legislature enacts a new law creating a state relief commission. Davey promptly delegated authority to the former Relief Director, William A. Walls, to act for him during the emergency.

While legally they have no status, both state and county relief organizations continued to function as though nothing had happened. Walls served notice on county directors that they must keep strictly within their budgets for the first two weeks of March. Total budget for that period was fixed by the old commission at $4,740,600.

Still embittered at the 13 Republican senators who blocked adoption of the relief commission extension bill because he would not agree to putting relief workers under civil service, Governor Davey tartly declared he expected the crisis to be surmounted within two weeks. "If the Republicans cease their low-grade partisanship."

KING TO ABDICATE

LONDON, March 1—In the seclusion of his country estate, Knowle Park mansion, Surrey, King Prajadhipok of Siam is drafting his decree of abdication, it was learned today.

The oriental monarch who visited the United States some years ago decided definitely to renounce his throne when he received word that the Siamese national assembly had rejected his demands regarding constitutional reform.

Prince Ananda, nephew of Prajadhipok, who is now in school, is expected to succeed him.

Up Through Ranks Came Police Head

William F. McCrady

No Radical Policies, McCrady Says; Started Service For City in 1910

Up through the ranks came William F. McCrady, "Bugs" to some of you but now "Chief" to all of you.

McCrady has been in the employ of the city many years. He served as a fireman in 1910 when Charles Duffy was mayor. After a short service here he resigned to become affiliated with the telephone company. He was then appointed to the police force by Mayor John C. Goeller. For two and one-half years he pounded the pavements as a night officer, then came a transfer to day duty. He was then under Chief Myers.

When Myers' tenure of office ended, McCrady expected to be named chief but he didn't get the job. Now he has it and is just a little bit bewildered.

"What will my policies be?" he answered a question. "Well, I don't know. I'm going to talk to Mr. Shaner about the department in general. I know one thing now, though, policemen in uniform and on duty will not go into beer parlors and drink a lot of beer as they have been."

There's no use saying a lot of things that I'm going to do and what I'm not going to do but I will promise an efficient, energetic and courteous department."

Appointment of McCrady came as a result of his seniority rights and with the aid of many of the city's leading citizens and business houses. Mayor Cady in the last month has received scores of letters recommending appointment of the officer. McCrady today asked The Herald to thank all who helped in any way to obtain the appointment for him. "Believe me, I'm grateful," he said.

CLOCK WINS RACE WITH "MR. STORK"

Herron Baby, First of March, Born at Three Minutes After Midnight

An infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Herron, corner of Ohio and Clinton-sts., is the first baby of March. The baby is their first.

The race between the stork and the clock was a thrilling one with the stork delaying its visit just long enough for the clock to reach Friday morning. Had the stork come a little quicker the baby would have been born Feb. 25 instead of March 1. A matter of four minutes decided the race.

The baby was ushered into the world at 12:03 a. m. Dr. H. D. Jackson was the attending physician.

The Herron baby and its proud parents will receive the following awards from Circleville merchants for having the first baby of March: A floral tribute by the Brehrer greenhouse.

A savings account of $1 opened by the Circleville Savings and Banking Co.

Credit of $1 on a ton of coal by S. C. Grant.

A Charlie mug by Griffith and Martin.

A box of cigars by the Mecca restaurant.

A $100 bill on an electric heating pad by the Southern Ohio Electric Co.

A three month subscription to The Herald.

One quart of milk daily for two weeks without charge by the Circle City dairy.

A case of Coca Cola by the Coca Cola Bottling works.

WALTON CAPTURED

LANCASTER, March 1—Denver Walton, last of four prisoners who escaped the Fairfield-co. jail Feb. 15, was captured Thursday by Sheriff Harold Partee of Vinton-co. Walton was awaiting grand jury action for assault with intent to rob.

F. FITZPATRICK GETS DAY JOB; HIRE RADCLIFF

New Chief Takes Oath of Office From Mayor Cady, Thursday

FORCE IS CHANGED

Radcliff on 30-Day Probation Period

William F. McCrady, W. Franklin-st., member of the police department for 18 years, was the chief of police today after his appointment by Mayor W. B. Cady. He succeeds William H. Warner who retired after 19 years of service.

Other changes in the department as a result of McCrady's promotion are:

Fred Fitzpatrick, another veteran of the department, being transferred to day duty. McCrady's old job, and appointment of Carl Radcliff, former member of the force, for a 30-day probationary period as a night officer. Since Radcliff resigned recently after serving almost a year as a night officer it will be necessary for him to take another civil service examination.

Appointment of Radcliff and transfer of Fitzpatrick was announced by Safety Director L. T. Shaner.

Sworn in By Cady

McCrady was sworn in by Mayor Cady, Thursday afternoon, under the following oath:

"Do you William F. McCrady swear that you will faithfully perform the duties of chief of police of the city of Circleville and that you will support the constitution of the United States of America and the state of Ohio and the ordinances of the city of Circleville to the best of your ability so help me God."

Appointment of McCrady came as a result of his seniority rights and with the aid of many of the city's leading citizens and business houses. Mayor Cady in the last month has received scores of letters recommending appointment of the officer. McCrady today asked The Herald to thank all who helped in any way to obtain the appointment for him. "Believe me, I'm grateful," he said.

Many Changes Made

The police department in the past two weeks has been almost completely reorganized. Chief Warner has retired. Raymond Smith has resigned. McCrady has been named chief. George Green has been appointed to take Smith's place. Fitzpatrick has been transferred to day duty, and Carl Radcliff has been returned to the force. Thomas McManamy, the real veteran of the force, was retired effective Feb. 1. Many letters were received by Cady and Shaner urging re-appointment of Radcliff, a brother of Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, to the force.

Radcliff had previously resigned under pressure after being suspended.

Former Chief Warner plans to take life easy from now on receiving a retirement salary of $50 a month.

All officers, chief and patrolmen, receive $100 a month with two weeks vacation with pay.

The Armo band directed by Frank Simon, noted band leader, has been given permission by Edward Wittich, W. Main-st., to use his composition, Circus Maximus, in the band's National Broadcasting Co. presentation Sunday between 6:30 and 7 o'clock. The program can be heard on WLW, Cincinnati.

New Order Signed by Mrs. Allman Dates Suspension of Thomas Next Monday

COLUMBUS, March 1—Gov. Martin L. Davey will be asked to send a detachment of national guard soldiers to the state penitentiary today to remove J. C. Woodard as warden and restore Preston E. Thomas to the post. Attorney Paul Herbert, counsel for Thomas, indicated today.

Herbert said attorneys for Thomas intend to follow the same course of action taken by Davey in removing Thomas from his post.

"We expect to ask for national guardsmen to accompany us to the penitentiary and demand that Woodard turn over the office to Thomas," Herbert said, "inasmuch as Mrs. Margaret Allman, state welfare director, has withdrawn her original removal charges."

Served New Order
Mrs. Allman today notified the state civil service commission she had served a new removal order on Thomas, to become effective next Monday.

Attorneys for the former warden immediately claimed that her action automatically re-instated him and they said they would consider an ouster order in the common pleas court here, if necessary, to force Woodard to turn over the office.

Meanwhile Ralph W. Emmons, chairman of the civil service commission, announced the commission has decided to strike from its files the original removal order and a motion of Thomas to dismiss the charges.

Herbert and Demas B. Urey, co-counsel for Thomas, said they will go farther than seek to have the warden re-instated.

They expect to file action in common pleas court of Franklin-co asking an injunction to enjoin Mrs. Allman from designating anyone other than Attorney General John W. Becker or a member of his staff to represent her.

Gov. Davey, asked whether he would accede to a request of Thomas' attorneys for use of the national guard in removing Woodard, said he had heard nothing of such a request and declined to comment "until I know more about it."

Mrs. Allman Away
Mrs. Allman was in Marysville today and was not expected back at her office until this afternoon and Reams was reported to be in Toledo.

STOLEN CIGARS MAY BE DEATH TO THIEF

DETROIT, March 1—The thief who took 25,000 cigars from Daniel McFadden's truck last night is dallying with sudden death.

The cigars were consigned to Oklahoma City, and, according to reports, "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, former governor of Oklahoma, was the consignee of some of them.

Those best informed know that "Alfalfa Bill's" cigars are to ordinary stogies what an earthquake is to an infant's sneeze.

So, McFadden promises to take the cigars back and no questions asked, providing the robber has survived.

RELIEF WORK CARRIED ON

Davey to Administer $4,000,000 Federal Fund As Legislators Go Home

COLUMBUS, March 1—Without a legal relief organization for the first time in two years, the state government today continued to provide for Ohio's 1,200,000 indigent on a temporary emergency basis.

Governor Davey received from the federal government a $4,000,000 grant to be administered by him until the legislature enacts a new law creating a state relief commission. Davey promptly delegated authority to the former Relief Director, William A. Walls, to act for him during the emergency.

While legally they have no status, both state and county relief organizations continued to function as though nothing had happened. Walls served notice on county directors that they must keep strictly within their budgets for the first two weeks of March. Total budget for that period was fixed by the old commission at $4,740,600.

Still embittered at the 13 Republican senators who blocked adoption of the relief commission extension bill because he would not agree to putting relief workers under civil service, Governor Davey tartly declared he expected the crisis to be surmounted within two weeks "if the Republicans cease their low-grade partisanship."

KING TO ABDICATE

LONDON, March 1—In the seclusion of his country estate, Knowle Park mansion, Surrey, King Prajadhipok of Siam is drafting his decree of abdication, it was learned today.

The oriental monarch who visited the United States some years ago decided definitely to renounce his throne when he received word that the Siamese national assembly had rejected his demands regarding constitutional reform.

Prince Ananda, nephew of Prajadhipok, who is now in school, is expected to succeed him.

Up Through Ranks Came Police Head

William F. McCrady

No Radical Policies, McCrady Says; Started Service For City in 1910

Up through the ranks came William F. McCrady, "Bugs" to some of you but now "Chief" to all of you.

McCrady has been in the employ of the city many years. He served as a fireman in 1910 when Charles Duffy was mayor. After a short service here he resigned to become affiliated with the telephone company. He was then appointed to the police force by Mayor John C. Goeller. For two and one-half years he pounded the pavements as a night officer, then came a transfer to day duty. He was then under Chief Myers.

When Myers' tenure of office ended, McCrady expected to be named chief but he didn't get the job. Now he has it and is just a little bit bewildered.

"What will my policies be?" he answered a question. "Well, I don't know, I'm going to talk to Mr. Shaner about the department in general. I know one thing now, though, policemen in uniform and on duty will not go into beer parlors and drink a lot of beer as they have been."

"There's no use saying a lot of things that I'm going to do and what I'm not going to do but I will promise an efficient, energetic and courteous department."

CLOCK WINS RACE WITH "MR. STORK"

Herron Baby, First of March, Born at Three Minutes After Midnight

An infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Herron, corner of Ohio and Clinton-sts., is the first baby of March. The baby is their first.

The race between the stork and the clock was a thrilling one with the stork delaying its visit just long enough for the clock to reach Friday morning. Had the stork come a little quicker the baby would have been born Feb. 28 instead of March 1. A matter of four minutes decided the race.

The baby was ushered into the world at 12:03 a. m. Dr. H. D. Jackson was the attending physician.

The Herron baby and its proud parents will receive the following awards from Circleville merchants for having the first baby of March:

A floral tribute by the Brehmer greenhouses;
A savings account of $1 opened by the Circleville Savings and Banking Co.;
Credit of $1 on a ton of coal by S. C. Grant;
A chenille rug by Griffith and Martin;

A box of cigars by the Mecca restaurant;
A $1 credit on an electric heating pad by the Southern Ohio Electric Co.;
A three months' subscription to The Herald;

One quart of milk daily for two weeks without charge by the Circle City dairy;
A case of Coca Cola by the Coca Cola Bottling works

F. FITZPATRICK GETS DAY JOB; HIRE RADCLIFF

New Chief Takes Oath of Office From Mayor Cady, Thursday

FORCE IS CHANGED

Radcliff on 30-Day Probation Period

William F. McCrady, W. Franklin-st., member of the police department for 18 years, was the chief of police today after his appointment by Mayor W. B. Cady. He succeeds William H. Warner who retired after 19 years of service.

Other changes in the department as a result of McCrady's promotion are:

Fred Fitzpatrick, another veteran of the department, being transferred to day duty, McCrady's old job, and appointment of Carl Radcliff, former member of the force, for a 30-day probationary period as a night officer. Since Radcliff resigned recently after serving almost a year as a night officer it will be necessary for him to take another civil service examination. Appointment of Radcliff and transfer of Fitzpatrick was announced by Safety Director L. T. Shaner.

Sworn in By Cady

McCrady was sworn in by Mayor Cady, Thursday afternoon, under the following oath:

"Do you William F. McCrady swear that you will faithfully perform the duties of chief of police of the city of Circleville and that you will support the constitution of the United States of America and the state of Ohio and the ordinances of the city of Circleville to the best of your ability so help me God."

Appointment of McCrady came as a result of his seniority rights and with the aid of many of the city's leading citizens and business houses. Mayor Cady in the last month has received scores of letters recommending appointment of the officer. McCrady today asked The Herald to thank all who helped in any way to obtain the appointment for him. "Believe me, I'm grateful," he said.

Many Changes Made

The police department in the past two weeks has been almost completely reorganized. Chief Warner has retired. Raymond Smith has resigned. McCrady has been named chief. George Green has been appointed to take Smith's place. Fitzpatrick has been transferred to day duty, and Carl Radcliff has been returned to the force. Thomas McManamy, the real veteran of the force, was retired effective Feb. 1. Many letters were received by Cady and Shaner urging re-appointment of Radcliff, a brother of Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, to the force.

Radcliff had previously resigned under pressure after being suspended.

Former Chief Warner plans to take life easy from now on receiving a retirement salary of $50 a month.

All officers, chief and patrolmen, receive $100 a month with two weeks vacation with pay.

MRS. MORRIS IN FEDERAL OFFICE

Mrs. Mary G. Morris, former Pickaway-co recorder, has accepted a position in the legal department of the Home Owners Loan corporation, Columbus.

Mrs. Morris retired from the county office January 1.

Ferd M. Pickens, former clerk of courts, is district attorney for the Columbus office. He was instrumental in obtaining the position for Mrs. Morris.

WOMEN URGED TO REGISTER FOR JOBS

A pleas was made to unemployed women to register in the National Re-employment office, city building. Often jobs, especially for housework, are available with no persons registered for that kind of work.

NAZIS GREET SAAR RETURN TO GERMANY

Thousand Take Part In Celebration; Seen As Move Toward Peace

SAARBRUECKEN, March 1.—Celebrations of the Saar's return to Germany today reached their peak of frenzied enthusiasm when Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler arrived here at 1:20 p. m.

SARBRUECKEN, Germany, Mar. 1.—Amid unparalleled scenes of triumphant rejoicing throughout the Reich, the rich industrial valley of the Saar became a part of Germany again today for the first time since the World war.

Half a million Nazis poured into the Saar to help its 800,000 residents celebrate, and all Germany joined with flying of flags, noise-making, and toasting in beer and Saar wine from last midnight throughout the day.

Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the Saar committee of the League of Nations, formally overthrown the territory's authority to D. Wilhelm Frick, Reich minister of the interior, at 9:30 a. m.

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler was expected later in the day personally to lead the festivities.

Before the flag of the third reich was raised over the Saarbrueck town hall, Dr. Frick, pointing his remarks to the members of the league commission, reiterated in a nationwide broadcast the peaceful utterances of Hitler when the Saar, by a 9 to 1 vote, elected to return to Germany.

"The return of the Saar marks the liquidation of the European policy of the reich," said Dr. Frick.

"The Saar problem no longer burdens the relations between these two neighboring nations (France and Germany)."

turn of the Saar is an important step towards improvement of the general political situation in Europe.

The statement of the minister of the interior after the Nazi flag flew once more over the Saar, however, had a note of warning in it. Addressing the Saarlanders, he said:

"The hour of liberation has struck, announcing to the world that the thousand-year-old German Saar has returned to the fatherland."

"We want to be free like our forefathers."

"Never again shall we permit German territory to be torn from us by force."

OHIO RUBBER STRIKE ENDS, RE-HIRE MEN

Strike of 11 Days At Willoughby Ended As Settlement Terms Accepted

WILLOUGHBY, March 1.—Complete peace returned today to this small Lake-co village, scene of an 11-day, strife-ridden strike at the Ohio Rubber Co. plant.

Franklyn G. Smith, president of the company, announced striking employees would be taken back at the plant, starting today, as soon as working schedules permit.

The announcement followed unanimous approval by union workers at a mass meeting here of a peace pact which had been drawn up in a 17-hour conference in the offices of Ralph A. Lind, executive director of the Cleveland regional labor relations board.

Smith and Charles Lanning, union president, signed the agreement which brought an end to the bitter, 11-day dispute. Terms of the agreement, revealed today, disclosed that neither side won a complete victory in the negotiations.

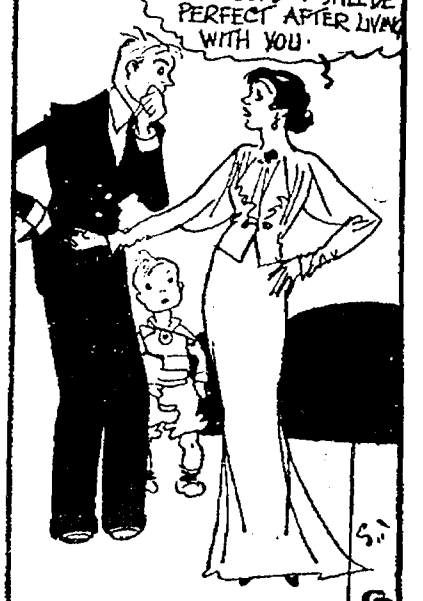

Demand 3 Things

The union local, affiliated with the United Rubber Workers, had demanded union recognition, seniority rights and a checkoff.

The union was not granted the closed shop, but was granted recognition to speak for employees who belong to it. The checkoff was eliminated and a compromise was reached in the seniority rights demand.

The agreement stipulated that seniority shall prevail in layoffs and rehiring; that is, the last man hired shall be the first laid off, and the oldest man in service laid off shall be the first rehired, providing he is efficient. The company retains the sole right to judge efficiency.

The workers gained a favorable provision which provides that in the event a worker is laid off or discharged unjustly, he shall when reinstated receive full pay for the time he was off duty.

for naming this lovely digestible CRISCO PIE

1034 OTHER PRIZES
$500 2ND PRIZE $100 4TH PRIZE
$250 3RD PRIZE $50 5TH PRIZE
10 PRIZES, $10 EACH - 20 PRIZES, $5 EACH
AND 1,000 SILVER-PLATED SERVERS

Send your entry with outside wrapper from 3-lb. can of Crisco

Just put on your thinking-cap for 5 minutes. And you may light on the perfect name for this perfect Crisco pie. Isn't that an easy way to win $1,000—or one of the other cash prizes? Try it. Of course, it's easier to find a pat name if you make the pie, exactly as the recipe reads, with Crisco, the digestible vegetable shortening. Then it will be wholesome for everyone in the family—even the youngsters!

This is Winifred Carter speaking!
I'd like to introduce myself because I go over all the Crisco recipes that you read—yes, and name them, too! I really love to do it. I think a recipe name should sound tempting or descriptive, don't you? I remember what fun it was to christen "Chocolate Sundae Pie" and "Dinner in a Dish." And you'll find the whole family helping you after they've tasted this luscious pie!

If anyone is afraid of pie—
Many people say they can't eat ordinary pie. But, as one woman put it, "I felt as if I had discovered America when I found I could eat Crisco pies with digestive comfort." That's because Crisco pastry is crispy, flaky and quick-digesting! Of course, the whole secret is Crisco itself—it's creamed and creamed out of pure vegetable oils until it's light and velvety. It doesn't overtax the stomach!

Crisco features at your grocer's!
Grocers feature the 3-lb. can of Crisco—it's the truly economical size to buy. It costs you less than three 1-lb. cans. Plenty of wholesome Crisco in this generous size to help you make many lovely fluffy cakes, light pastry and crisp fried foods! Crisco makes everything taste good because it's so sweet and fresh. It's specially made to keep that way for weeks—without refrigeration, too! Do save the outside wrapper from the 3-lb. can to send in with your name—so you'll be in line to win a wonderful cash prize! WINIFRED S. CARTER

Read these EASY Contest Rules

ALL YOU'VE NEEDED TO DO:

1. Submit a name (one, or as many as you like) for the Crisco pie recipe for which is given above. The simplest way to name the pie is to make up the recipe, and to serve the pie to your family. They'll help you name the pie.
2. Write your suggested name, or names, clearly on one side of a sheet of plain paper.
3. Put your name, address and name and address of your grocer at the top of each sheet you send in.
4. Attach to your entry an outside wrapper from a 3-lb. can of Crisco or a reasonable facsimile thereof.

5. Mail your entry before midnight, March 10th, to: CRISCO CONTEST, Dept. P.N., Box 1001, Cincinnati, Ohio.

6. It is understood and agreed by entrants that any or all names submitted (and the names of the contestants) may be used by the makers of Crisco as they see fit in advertising and other publicity.

7. If two or more contestants submit a name which (in the opinion of the judges) shall be deserving of a prize, the full amount of that prize shall be given to each.

8. The judges of the contest will be: Miss Sarah Field Splatt, editor, Food Department, McCall's Magazine; Miss Katharine Fisher, director, Good Housekeeping Institute; Miss Alice Blinn, associate editor, Ladies Home Journal.

9. The decision of the judges shall be final.

$1,000 FIRST PRIZE FOR NAMING THIS PIE

2 cups milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup currant jelly or strawberry jam

2 eggs (separated)
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon lemon flavoring
1 cup grated coconut
1/2 cup currant jelly or strawberry jam

Heat milk in top of double boiler. Mix sugar, salt, cornstarch. Add slowly to hot milk, stirring constantly. Stir and cook over boiling water about 10-15 min. Beat egg yolks. Stir into custard and cook two minutes. Remove from stove. Add flavorings and 1/2 cup of the coconut. Cool. Pour into a baked shell made of digestible Crisco pastry. (See recipe.) Spread top with jelly or jam. Cover with meringue made by beating 3 egg whites stiff and adding 6 tablespoons finely granulated sugar. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup coconut. Bake in low oven (300° F.) until coconut is lightly browned.

Digestible Crisco Pastry Shell: Sift 1 1/2 cups flour with 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cut in 1/2 cup Crisco (the digestible vegetable shortening) until in coarse flakes. Add 4 to 6 tablespoons ice-cold water, using as little as possible. (Chill pastry mix, if you desire a very flaky, crisp texture.) Roll out on lightly floured board. Fit smoothly over inverted pie plate. Prick well with fork. Bake in low oven (250° F.) 10 to 15 minutes.

OHIO RUBBER STRIKE ENDS, RE-HIRE MEN

Strike of 11 Days At Willoughby Ended As Settlement Terms Accepted

WILLOUGHBY, March 1—Complete peace returned today to this small Lake-co village, scene of an 11-day, strife-ridden strike at the Ohio Rubber Co. plant.

Franklyn G. Smith, president of the company, announced striking employees would be taken back at the plant, starting today, as soon as working schedules permit.

The announcement followed unanimous approval by union workers at a mass meeting here of a peace pact which had been drawn up in a 17-hour conference in the offices of Ralph A. Lind, executive director of the Cleveland regional labor relations board.

Smith and Charles Lanning, union president, signed the agreement which brought an end to the bitter, 11-day dispute. Terms of the agreement, revealed today, disclosed that neither side won a complete victory in the negotiations.

Demanded 3 Things
The union local, affiliated with the United Rubber Workers, had demanded union recognition, seniority rights and a checkoff. The union was not granted the closed shop, but was granted recognition to speak for employees who belong to it. The checkoff was eliminated and a compromise was reached in the seniority rights demand.

The agreement stipulated that

seniority shall prevail in layoffs and rehiring; that is, the last man hired shall be the first laid off, and the oldest man in service laid off shall be the first rehired, providing he is efficient. The company retains the sole right to judge efficiency.

The workers gained a favorable provision which provides that in the event a worker is laid off or discharged unjustly, he shall when reinstated, receive full pay for the time he was off duty.

10 PRIZES, $10 EACH · 20 PRIZES, $5 EACH
AND 1,000 SILVER-PLATED SERVERS

Send your entry with outside wrapper from 3-lb. can of Crisco

Just put on your thinking-cap for 5 minutes. And you may light on the perfect name for this perfect Crisco pie. Isn't that an easy way to win $1,000—or one of the other cash prizes? Try it. Of course, it's easier to find a pat name if you make the pie, exactly as the recipe reads, with Crisco, the digestible vegetable shortening. Then it will be wholesome for everyone in the family—even the youngsters!

This is Winifred Carter speaking!

I'd like to introduce myself because I go over all the Crisco recipes that you read—yes, and name them, too! I really love to do it. I think a recipe name should sound tempting or descriptive, don't you? I remember what fun it was to christen "Chocolate Sundae Pie" and "Dinner in a Dish." And you'll find the whole family helping you after they've tasted this luscious pie!

If anyone is afraid of pie—

Many people say they can't eat ordinary pie. But, as one woman put it, "I felt as if I had discovered America when I found I could eat Crisco pies with digestive comfort." That's because Crisco pastry is crispy, flaky and quick-digesting! Of course, the whole secret is Crisco itself—it's creamed and creamed out of pure vegetable oils until it's light and velvety. It doesn't overtax the stomach!

Crisco features at your grocer's!

Grocers feature the 3-lb. can of Crisco—it's the truly economical size to buy. It costs you less than three 1-lb. cans. Plenty of wholesome Crisco in this generous size to help you make many lovely fluffy cakes, light pastry and crisp fried foods! Crisco makes everything taste good because it's so sweet and fresh. It's specially made to keep that way for weeks—without refrigeration, too! Do keep the outside wrapper from the 3-lb. can to send in with your name—so you'll be in line to win a wonderful cash prize! WINIFRED S. CARTER

At the Herald Cooking School, conducted this week in Memorial Hall, Mrs. George Thurn uses and recommends CRISCO, the modern, quick-digesting shortening.

Read these EASY Contest Rules

ALL YOU NEED TO DO:

1. Submit a name (one, or as many as you like) for the Crisco pie, recipe for which is given above. The simplest way to name the pie is to make up the recipe, and to serve the pie to your family. They'll help you name the pie.
2. Write your suggested name, or names, clearly on one side of a sheet of plain paper.
3. Put your name, address and name and address of your grocer at the top of each sheet you send in.
4. Attach to your entry an outside wrapper from a 3-lb. can of Crisco or a reasonable facsimile thereof.

5. Mail your entry before midnight, March 10th, to:

CRISCO CONTEST, Dept. PN, Box 1801, Cincinnati, Ohio.

6. It is understood and agreed by entrants that any or all names submitted (and the names of the contestants) may be used by the makers of Crisco as they see fit in advertising and other publicity.

7. If two or more contestants submit a name which (in the opinion of the judges) shall be deserving of a prize, the full amount of that prize shall be given to each.

8. The judges of the contest will be: Miss Sarah Field Splint, editor, Food Department, McCall's Magazine.

Miss Katharine Fisher, director, Good Housekeeping Institute.

Miss Alice Blum, associate editor, Ladies' Home Journal.

9. The decision of the judges shall be final.

Household Arts

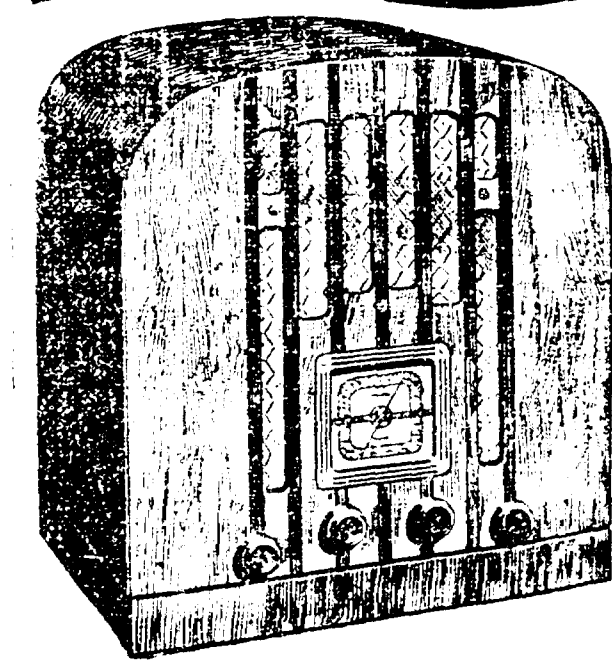

by Alice Brooks Two Patches Used on Applique Block Water Lily

This quilt, Water Lily Applique, is one you can do quickly. And you'll have a piece of needlework that you'll be proud to show. There are only two applique patches in each block—the petals and marking on the leaves are done in outline stitch. Let the flower be a pink, yellow or peach color on a white background or make this colored and do the flower in white. You can outline it and the leaf in a darker shade of the color used or in black. The patches are simple in form, which means they're easy to apply.

In pattern 5311 you will find the finished block in actual size, showing contrasting fabrics; accurately drawn pattern pieces; an illustration of the entire quilt; three color schemes; step-by-step directions for making the quilt, and exact yardage requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Herald Household Arts Dept., 124 W. Main-st., Circleville, Ohio.

FOUR FROM HERE ATTEND GARDEN CLUB MEETING

Four members of the Pickaway-co Garden club motored to Delaware, Thursday, where they attended the regional meeting of the seventh district of Garden clubs held at the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Silas B. Waters, of Cincinnati, was the principal speaker, and music was furnished by students of Ohio Wesleyan university.

Each member attending from here gave a report of the work of the local club. Attending were Mrs. James P. Moffitt, president, Mrs. Orion King, Mrs. Howard Jones, and Mrs. Leslie Pontius.

MRS. STOUT ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE THURSDAY

Members of her club were guests of Mrs. James Stout, E. Franklin-st., Thursday evening, when she entertained at bridge at her home.

The planned diversion was enjoyed at two tables with prizes going to Mrs. Rockford Brown, Mrs. Melvin S. Rinehart and Mrs. John Goodchild.

The hostess served a lunch at the small tables.

Mrs. Clarence Wolf, S. Court-st., invited the club to meet at her home in two weeks.

BUSINESS WOMEN HAVE BI-MONTHLY MEETING

The bi-monthly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club was held Thursday evening in the club rooms preceded by a 6:30 o'clock dinner.

Twenty members were present. A guessing contest on current events was conducted by Miss Velma Watson.

During the business plans were discussed for the public relations dinner to be held the week of March 17.

MRS. THURN HOSTESS TO COOKING SCHOOL PATRONS

Mrs. George O. Thurn, who is conducting The Herald Cooking school at Memorial hall, this week, was hostess at a tea at the American hotel coffee shop at the close of the school, Thursday afternoon.

Between five and six hundred patrons of the school enjoyed the delightful affair, which was made possible through the cooperation of Charles Owens, proprietor of the Coffee shop.

Mrs. Clark Will sang two vocal numbers during the party and was accompanied by Mrs. Theodore Huston.

Mrs. E. I. Nye, also of the cooking school, assisted Mrs. Thurn in entertaining the guests. Other assisting hostesses included Miss Mary Rusk, of the Home Service department of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Mrs. Ione Reichelderfer, Mrs. K. J. Herrmann and daughter, Carolyn, and Mrs. Louis Rentler of Cincinnati, a guest of Mrs. Thurn.

Food for the party was furnished by advertisers of nationally known products.

Gets $25,000 Heart Balm

Jury in New York court awarded $25,000 heart balm to (above) Vera Grove, night club chorine, from Henry Taylor, radio crooner, and thus ignored campaign of Mrs. Roberta West Nicholson (insert), Indiana legislator, against heart balm and alienation of affections suits. Mrs. Nicholson declares women aren't entitled to collect such damages as were awarded Miss Grove. (Central Press)

MR. AND MRS. BETZ TO VISIT MARDI GRAS

Among the many to enjoy carnival time in New Orleans, La., next week will be Mr. and Mrs. Paul Betz, of the Lancaster-pk. They left Friday afternoon to attend all the festivities of the annual Mardi Gras, which begins next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Betz are motoring down and will enjoy a trip through other southern states visiting points of interest before returning in two weeks.

MRS. GREEN HOSTESS TO CLUB MEMBERS

Bridge was in progress at two tables at the home of Mrs. George Green, S. Court-st., Thursday evening, when she entertained the members of her club.

The merry hours spent in cards were brought to a close when the hostess served delectable refreshments. Miss Louise Martin and Miss Lucile Crist, a guest, were presented favors for high score.

Next week the club will meet with Miss Martin, E. Franklin-st.

Mrs. Myrtle Reichelderfer, of Turlington, has been a guest this week of Mrs. Fannie Mowery of Pickaway-twp. and Mrs. William Lemley, this city.

Miss Elsie Stemen, of Columbus, is spending a few days here, the guest of Mrs. Malcolm Parrett, E. Franklin-sts, and Miss Mary Crist, N. Court-st.

Household Arts

by Alice Brooks Two Patches Used on Applique Block Water Lily

PATTERN 5311

This quilt, Water Lily Applique, is one you can do quickly. And you'll have a piece of needlework that you'll be proud to show. There are only two applique patches in each block—the petals and marking on the leaves are done in outline stitch. Let the flower be a pink, yellow or peach color on a white background or make this colored and do the flower in white. You can outline it and the leaf in a darker shade of the color used or in black. The patches are simple in form, which means they're easy to apply.

In pattern 5311 you will find the finished block in actual size, showing contrasting fabrics, accurately drawn pattern pieces; an illustration of the entire quilt; three color schemes; step-by-step directions for making the quilt, and exact yardage requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Herald Household Arts Dept., 124 W. Main-st., Circleville, Ohio.

Kiss' Stolen Kisses

PRAGUE.—Leopold Kiss, 20-year-old shoe repairer, had a quarrel with his sweetheart which led him to stealing a public letterbox. The girl he hoped to marry jilted him and showed him a letter, all ready for posting, that she had written to a new admirer. To find out what was in the letter and prevent it from reaching the rival, Kiss stole the letterbox. He was caught by a policeman.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME

Lewis County House and Contents Razed by Flames

VANCEBURG, Feb. 22—Fire completely destroyed a two-story frame dwelling of Walt Morgan, at Fairview, Ky., two miles east of here Thursday.

The house was occupied by Walter Chinn and family who lost all their household goods.

The flames were beyond control when discovered.

There was no phone near to summons help from Vanceburg and the neighbors fought the blaze with buckets.

Morgan estimated his loss at $2,000 and Chinn his loss at $500. Neither had any insurance. A defective flue was thought to be the cause.

RETAIL SALES

ALL indices have indicated that retail sales sharply recovered in 1934. The actual increase is now shown by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce to have been $3,511,000,000, or 14 per cent, leaving 1933 to stand as the lowest in dollar sales business for the depression period. In contrast the stock and commodity market averages touched bottom in 1932.

Greatest resistance to depression influences has been offered by the variety stores, composed largely of chain organizations. Last year their dollar business recovered to 73 per cent of their 1929 total, as against 58 per cent for all retail business. Incidentally their 1933 business was greater than in 1932. Second-hand stores were second with 71 per cent and restaurants, which were helping last year by repeal, were third with 67 per cent. The country general store is among the four groups that have suffered the heaviest drop.

Such January figures as have become available to date reveal a continued improvement as compared with a year ago. We seem to be on our way. Even the capital goods industries, though still very sick, are doing better.

AUTOMOBILES AS LUXURIES

THE American tourist in England and, for that matter, the countries on the continent, is impressed with the relative scarcity of automobiles on the streets and the highways and with the manifest fact that they are the possessions exclusively of persons of obvious means.

An inquiry conducted by one of the London newspapers into the amount of earnings necessary before a resident of England can afford to keep an automobile clearly establishes the reason why they are not the common property of all citizens, virtually regardless of economic circumstances, as is the case in the United States.

An owner of an automobile in England, the inquiry shows, must have a minimum income of $2.00 a year. Taxes, not the cost of the car, is the reason. When an Englishman pays $100 or more a year to register a car, even the cheapest, 18 cents a gallon for gasoline, together with numerous other taxes, he has taken a substantial cut out of his income.

An automobile in England is not for the $25 or even the $35 a week man. It is a luxury for the moderately well-to-do. It is not improbable that a somewhat similar condition will develop in this country if the tax load continues to grow constantly greater.

WOMAN VICE PRESIDENT?

BEFORE the end of the present decade," and that contemplates only the 1936 election, Mrs. Lillian D. Rock, vice president of the National Association of Women Lawyers, with headquarters in Brooklyn, "expects" to see a woman vice president at Washington, and eventually hopes to see a woman president. In fact, the League for a Woman President and Vice President already has been formed with a membership of 3,000 men and women with hopes of a 300,000 enrollment within a year.

This is not such a fanciful numerical hope as it might appear. A woman, Miss Frances Perkins, is already in the cabinet; we have a woman in the United States senate, Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway of Arkansas, elected to succeed her dead husband; several members of the house of representatives, including Mrs. Mary T. Norton, chairman of the District of Columbia committee, known as "the mayor of Washington," and others like Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California, who succeeded her late husband and has been returned to congress time and again. The women folk are marching on.

Almost certainly not by 1936, which in anticipation is but tomorrow, will a woman be elected vice president. But Brooklyn is not to be despised as a starting point for vast movements. The present limits of that borough include Gravesend, once the habitat of the late John Y. McKane, who, probably to his surprise, had much to do with making a president in 1884, when Cleveland carried New York state by only 1,047 votes and thereby got a majority in the electoral college.

You can tell the parents of bright children. They don't think the teacher dumb.

Human nature is especially hard to understand when you see the husband of a jealous wife.

The blessed thing about religion is that it offers to save you without a congressional appropriation.

Americanism: Calling a man worthless failure if he doesn't make money; calling him a menace to society if he makes too much.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Dr. T. W. Mahoney, representing the state department of health, addressed the regular meeting of the Pickaway Medical Society held at Buggs Hotel, Mayor B. T. Hedges and Safety Director J. Wallace Crist were guests. Management of the new municipal hospital was discussed.

Prizes in The Herald's airplane contest were awarded as follows: First, Charles Weidinger, Huntsville; second, Mary Evelyn Spangler, Adelphi; third, Emanuel Hundley, Circleville.

An extra edition of The Herald carried a detailed story of the election of Dr. James H. Snook at the Ohio State penitentiary at 7:06 p. m. on Friday, February 28. Snook, a professor of veterinary medicine at S. U., was convicted of killing his paramour, Theora.

15 YEARS AGO
Aktion of students for permits.

The retail price of refined granulated sugar dropped to 16 1/2 cents a pound.

There was a coal shortage in Circleville and dealers viewed the situation with apprehension as to the final outcome. Delayed shipments were greedily snatched up, a car load lasting no longer than it took to unload it.

25 YEARS AGO

Work was resumed on the new garage building of the Spangler Automobile company on N. Court st.

County Auditor Dodd called a meeting of the land appraisers of the county for the purpose of issuing instructions with reference to making assessments.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church issued a challenge to the Men's club for a spelling match. The challenge was accepted.

Little Sister

by MARGARET WIDEMER

CHAPTER 31

"AT LAST THE speeches were done. Mrs. Johnston-Hedges dismissed the party to dancing with her blessing. The manor or heretofore sweetly into its best known waltz; the waiters began to remove cloths and trestles; the banqueters were swept out to survey the grounds for ten minutes while the hall room was turned back to its original use. Orton came up to Leila, as in duty bound, and they paced the cement terrace for a moment in the moonlight. It was a gorgeous autumn night; it had that feel of stimulation in the air which makes autumn more seductive, more heart-pulling than spring to such people as love it. There was a great yellowish moon; the salt air swept up from the shore, just fresh enough. There was an under-scent of burning leaves; it was a night for lovers.

And here was the lover. He put a hand under her arm as they strolled among the others, and said, "Good dinner, what? No trouble now about the October meeting?"

"I wish she'd told me more about it," Leila said inadequately.

"Well, of course, for the matter of that, I told her the same thing. But she said she was used to playing a lone hand, and she was afraid you might mix things up. You know, dear, you are a little forthright and enthusiastic. But says you lay the law down to her a good deal."

"Why, I've scarcely seen her lately."

"That's true. . . . Well, I certainly admire DeFries and Addison. They have done a good piece of work."

"Jerry Redmond got DeFries and hunted up Mr. Huntington, and did practically everything," said Leila unthinkingly.

"Oh, that man! You know, I hate to think about him. You have always trusted him too much, dear. That doesn't matter, of course, because you have somebody to advise you, and it isn't likely our paths will cross. But it's poor little Mary that worries me."

"Mary never seemed to me," said Leila as gently as she could, "entirely helpless."

"He brightened. "You're right, Leila. Trust a woman to know another woman. Mary's capable, after all—such a charming feminine little thing you forget it. But at heart, as she tells me people say to her, 'the most wonderful combination of cleverness and charm you can imagine' . . . Poor little Mary. Well, she'll handle Redmond, if anybody can, but I'd like to see the thing broken off. Perhaps if you talked to her it might help."

"No more than if Jane barked at her!" said Leila with one of her accessions of forthrightness—unwisely, as it appeared.

He moved her inside, for the dancing was beginning. They clapped well together; they had danced to gether for a good many years, on and on, beginning in dancing school.

"Speaking of dogs, reminds me," he said a little foolishly, and looking over his head at the other circle room, which was blimping up now.

"You remember we agreed to get George Haskins to take over the complete charge of your dogs."

"He can even manage showing when you and I are off somewhere else. We'll do it in person. We'll be just in time, when we get back from some fox hunting in Virginia. Mary introduced me to a fellow from Virginia. We're going there after we come back from yachting. I told you, didn't I, that Bill Hiersley was loaning me his yacht? We might as well, best place in the world for a honeymoon, the bridegroom can't get away! That's what Bill said—ha ha! And, by the way, I've promised the Virginia fellow your Jane pup—at a price, that is, of course."

"Jane! Jane! her own private dog? Jane, who had seen her through all her trouble? Jane, her own private dog?"

"I knew," said Orton, perhaps a trifle uneasy, "that you wouldn't mind, darling. It makes a difference to me. You see, that's Mary's Virginia pup, is it? A strain of a one, best place in the world for a honeymoon, the bridegroom can't get away! That's what Bill said—ha ha! didn't have to be borne at all! She could never be happy again, or perhaps not for a good many years, when it wouldn't much matter after all, because Mary Martin, in addition to all Orton's admiration and approval, possessed Jerry Redmond.

But she didn't need to be actively miserable. She needn't spend the rest of her life out in the great world as a bored adjunct to the huntin', yachtin', polo, and social amusements of the prince of Fernwood Manor. Idiot that she had been!

Here she had been sitting through a banquet, cross in a silly childish way because she and Jerry had done most of the work of dragging Bert and Addison back to virtue and responsible behavior, and got none of the credit. And it had never dawned on her dulled mind till this moment that the process freed her!

She could keep her kennels. She could keep her own soul and her own existence. She could keep her own Jane, that piece of turbulent black devotion. She wouldn't have to spend the rest of her life trailing through a peasant of Orton Johnston-Hedges, devising. Nobody needed her. She was free. The Johnston-Hedges hadn't been noble souls who were doing everything for the Madisons; they had been cool-headed selfish people who did what was best for themselves. She didn't owe them a thing. Not Mrs. Johnston-Hedges. Not—oh, heavenly thought!

"Listen to me, Orton Johnston-Hedges," she said in the low ear tone she had used when they were children together and she was about to send him out of her yard. He removed his eyes from following the dull-red velvet that had Mary Martin inside, cliveling at a distance in somebody's arms, and looked down at his hands-to-be. "You aren't going to trade in my pet dog for a social step up in the Virginia fox hunting set. She happens to belong to me. So do my kennels. So do I. And I'm going to stay belonging to me."

He gasped but went on dancing. To the rhythm of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" she informed him, "There isn't a thing in the life you live, Orton, that I care a hoot in blades for. I'm a free woman and my dog is a free dog. Hunt and yacht and polo your way into every smart set in the two hemispheres that Mary Martin can tell you about; you won't do it with me chained behind! Here's your ring."

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Heading an impressive cast which includes Gail Patrick, Monte Blue, Raymond Hatton and Jan Duggan, Randolph Scott returns for another of his hard-ridding, whirlwind fighting and thrilling roles of the mount picturization of the Zane Grey's "Wagon Wheels," now at the Cliftona Theatre.

In this handsomely directed and mounted film, which details some of the actual and historic adventures that beset the sturdy pioneers who took the first wagon train across the country in 1841 to Oregon, Scott plays the role of an Indian-fighting frontier scout. He wins the love of a lovely widow and her child, when he saves the entire caravan from death at the hands of the savages.

AT THE GRAND

Jack Holt, in a new role as a man of comedy-action, won universal acclaim from his legion of admirers in "Till We Meet Again," which will be seen for the first time at the Grand Theatre tonight.

Swift-moving and hilarious, the picture offers a new team. Holt and beautiful Mona Barrie, charming newcomer from Australia, Jimmie Butler, popular juvenile, is seen as Holt's algebra-hating kid brother, while Winnie Lightner and Edward Brophy add to the comedy cast of the picture. Roy William Neill directed.

RERID OR DOUBLE

EVEN AMONG trained bidders one of the most difficult things to determine is the point at which doubling opponents will be more profitable than rebidding. It is exasperating to collect a minimum penalty when your side is able to go game or slam. RETAIL SALES

ALL indices have indicated that retail sales sharply recovered in 1934. The actual increase is now shown by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce to have been $3,511,000,000, or 14 per cent, leaving 1933 to stand as the lowest in dollar sales business for the depression period. In contrast the stock and commodity market averages touched bottom in 1932.

Greatest resistance to depression influences has been offered by the variety stores, composed largely of chain organizations. Last year their dollar business recovered to 73 per cent of their 1929 total, as against 58 per cent for all retail business. Incidentally their 1933 business was greater than in 1932. Second-hand stores were second with 71 per cent and restaurants, which were helping last year by repeal, were third with 67 per cent. The country general store is among the four groups that have suffered the heaviest drop.

Such January figures as have become available to date reveal a continued improvement as compared with a year ago. We seem to be on our way. Even the capital goods industries, though still very sick, are doing better.

AUTOMOBILES AS LUXURIES

THE American tourist in England and, for that matter, the countries on the continent, is impressed with the relative scarcity of automobiles on the streets and the highways and with the manifest fact that they are the possessions exclusively of persons of obvious means.

An inquiry conducted by one of the London newspapers into the amount of earnings necessary before a resident of England can afford to keep an automobile clearly establishes the reason why they are not the common property of all citizens, virtually regardless of economic circumstances, as is the case in the United States.

An owner of an automobile in England, the inquiry shows, must have a minimum income of $2.00 a year. Taxes, not the cost of the car, is the reason. When an Englishman pays $100 or more a year to register a car, even the cheapest, 18 cents a gallon for gasoline, together with numerous other taxes, he has taken a substantial cut out of his income.

An automobile in England is not for the $25 or even the $85 a week man. It is a luxury for the moderately well-to-do. It is not improbable that a somewhat similar condition will develop in this country if the tax load continues to grow constantly greater.

WOMAN VICE PRESIDENT?

BEFORE the end of the present decade," and that contemplates only the 1936 election, Mrs. Lillian D. Rock, vice president of the National Association of Women Lawyers, with headquarters in Brooklyn, "expects" to see a woman vice president at Washington, and eventually hopes to see a woman president. In fact, the League for a Woman President and Vice President already has been formed with a membership of 3,000 men and women with hopes of a 300,000 enrollment within a year.

This is not such a fanciful numerical hope as it might appear. A woman, Miss Frances Perkins, is already in the cabinet; we have a woman in the United States senate, Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway of Arkansas, elected to succeed her dead husband; several members of the house of representatives, including Mrs. Mary T. Norton, chairman of the District of Columbia committee, known as "the mayor of Washington," and others like Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California, who succeeded her late husband and has been returned to congress time and again. The women folk are marching on.

Almost certainly not by 1936, which in anticipation is but tomorrow, will a woman be elected vice president. But Brooklyn is not to be despised as a starting point for vast movements. The present limits of that borough include Gravesend, once the habitat of the late John Y. McKane, who, probably to his surprise, had much to do with making a president in 1884, when Cleveland carried New York state by only 1,047 votes and thereby got a majority in the electoral college.

You can tell the parents of bright children. They don't think the teacher dumb.

Human nature is especially hard to understand when you see the husband of a jealous wife.

The blessed thing about religion is that it offers to save you without a congressional appropriation.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Dr. T. W. Mahoney, representing the state department of health, addressed the regular meeting of the Pickaway-co Medical Society held at Boggs Hotel, Mayor B. T. Hedger and Safety Director J. Wallace Crist were guests. Management of the new municipal hospital was discussed.

Prizes in The Herald's aeroplane contest were awarded as follows: First, Charles Weidinger, Huntsville; second, Mary Evelyn Spangler, Adelphi; third, Emanuel Hundley, Circleville.

An extra edition of The Herald carried a detailed story of the electrocution of Dr. James H. Snook at the Ohio State penitentiary at 7:06 p. m. on Friday, February 28. Snook, a professor of veterinary medicine at O. S. U., was convicted of killing his paramour, Theora Hix.

15 YEARS AGO

Petition of students for permission to use the Circleville high school building for informal dancing parties was referred to parents of the community for final decision. Heretofore dances had not been permitted in the school building.

The retail price of refined granulated sugar dropped to 16½ cents a pound.

There was a coal shortage in Circleville and dealers viewed the situation with apprehension as to the final outcome. Delayed shipments were greedily snatched up, a car load lasting no longer than it took to unload it.

25 YEARS AGO

Work was resumed on the new garage building of the Spangler Automobile company on N. Court-st.

County Auditor Dodd called a meeting of the land appraisers of the county for the purpose of issuing instructions with reference to making assessments.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church issued a challenge to the Men's club for a spelling match. The challenge was accepted.

Little Sister

CHAPTER 55

AT LAST THE speeches were done. Mrs. Johnston-Hedges dismissed the party to dancing with her blessing. The manor orchestra blared sweetly into its best known waltz; the waiters began to remove cloths and trestles; the banqueters were swept out to survey the grounds for ten minutes while the ballroom was turned back to its original use. Orton came up to Leila, as in duty bound, and they paced the cement terrace for a moment in the moonlight. It was a gorgeous autumn night; it had that feel of stimulation in the air which makes autumn more seductive, more heart-pulling than spring to such people as love it. There was a great yellowish moon; the salt air swept up from the shore, just fresh enough. There was an under-scent of burning leaves; it was a night for lovers.

And here was the lover. He put a hand under her arm as they strolled among the others, and said, "Good dinner, what? No trouble now about the October meeting?"

"I wish she'd told me more about it," Leila said inadequately.

"Well, of course, for the matter of that, I told her the same thing. But she said she was used to playing a lone hand, and she was afraid you might mix things up. You know, dear, you are a little forthright and enthusiastic. But says you lay the law down to her a good deal."

"Why, I've scarcely seen her lately!"

"That's true. . . . Well, I certainly admire DeFries and Addison. They have done a good piece of work."

"Jerry Redmond got DeFries and hunted up Mr. Huntington, and did practically everything," said Leila unwisely.

"Oh, that man! You know, I hate to think about him. You have always trusted him too much, dear. That doesn't matter, of course, because you have somebody to advise you, and it isn't likely our paths will cross. But it's poor little Mary that worries me."

"Mary never seemed to me," said Leila as gently as she could, "entirely helpless."

"Be brightened."

"You're right, Leila. Trust a woman to know another woman. Mary's capable, after all—such a charmin' feminine little thing you forget it. But at heart, as she tells me people say to her, 'the most wonderful combination of cleverness and charm you can imagine.' . . . Poor little Mary. Well, she'll handle Redmond, if anybody can, but I'd like to see the thing broken off. Perhaps if you talked to her it might help."

"No more than if Jane barked at her!" said Leila with one of her accesses of forthrightness—unwisely, as it appeared.

He swept her inside, for the dancing was beginning. They danced well together; they had danced together for a good many years, off and on, beginning in dancing school, and they paced the terrace for a moment in the moonlight.

"Speaking of dogs, reminds me," he said a little pertly, and gazing over her head as they circled the room, which was filling up now, "You remember we agreed to get George Haskins to take over the complete charge of your dogs. We can trust him for pretty well everything. He can even manage showin' when you and I are off somewhere else. When we're here, of course, we'll do it in person. We'll be just in time, when we get back from some fox huntin' in Virginia. Mary introduced me to a fellow from Virginia. We're goin' there after we come back from yachtin'. I told you, didn't I, that Bill Piersey was loanin' me his yacht? We might get one. Best place in the world for a honeymoon, the bridegroom can't get away! That's what Bill said—ha, ha! And, by the way, I've promised the Virginia fellow your Jane pup—at a price, that is, of course."

"Jane! Jane, her sole comfort? Jane, who had seen her through all her trouble? Jane, her own private adored dog?"

"I knew," said Orton, perhaps a trifle uneasy, "that you wouldn't mind, darling. It makes a difference to me. You see Lee, that's Mary's son, a hunter, that's a point in Virginia, pal, is strain' a point about a hunter that I wanted from him, practically promised to another fellow. He saw Jane—likes Scotties. I showed him our dogs—Jane tipped the balance."

He paused, a little proud of his shrewdness. Leila wished numbly, irrelevantly, that he would drop all of his g's or none. You never knew when he was going to do it. . . . It was going to make married life doubly hard, never knowing about those g's. . . .

Married life. . . . Suddenly through this desert of hopelessness and detached scattered thoughts crashed an idea; a joyful, wonderful idea.

This last complacent outrage didn't have to be borne at all! She could never be happy again, or perhaps not for a good many years, when it wouldn't much matter after all, because Mary Martin, in addition to all Orton's admiration and approval, possessed Jerry Redmond.

East ruffed the opening lead of K of spades. Two rounds of winners diamonds followed. A low heart was led. Dummy's Q was captured by North's Ace. East ruffed a return spade. The K of hearts won the next trick. Dummy ruffed a heart, leaving 3 established hearts in the declaring hand. The last trump was led from dummy. The Q picked up the last opposing trump, leaving East with 4 safe tricks in his own hand, and the Ace of clubs to win the last trick in dummy. There was not the least difficulty to fulfilling the small slam double.

Ulcer of Stomach May Be Inherited, Studies Show

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

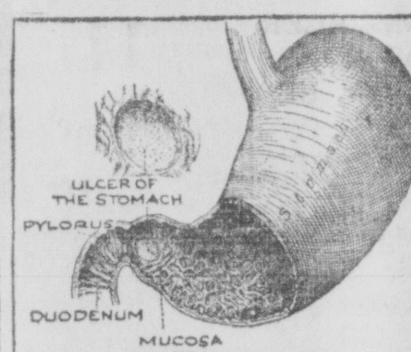

THIS DEPARTMENT frequently is asked by correspondents to tell the cause of ulcer of the stomach. It is not possible to answer this dogmatically, for no one knows certainly, but we may make some guesses.

In the first place, let us inquire what an ulcer is. An ulcer occurs only on mucous membranes. You cannot have an ulcer of the bone or an ulcer of the brain. An ulcer is a circumscribed solution of continuity of the mucous membrane. In plain words, it is a place where the membrane has been removed. Ulcers are usually round.

When we come to inquire the cause of any ulcer, no matter where it is in the body, we find that it may be due to one of several causes. It can be due to trauma or abrasion, mere mechanical removal of the mucous membrane. Second, it can be due to such physical causes as burns. Third, it may be due to chemical causes, such as acids. Fourth, it may be due to infection, such as it may be due to lack of blood supply to a part, or poor blood supply, causing necrosis. This is what occurs in ulcers of the skin of the leg due to varicose veins. Lastly, it may be due to what are called "trophic" causes, as in nervous diseases, such as perforating ulcer of the foot in locomotor ataxia.

When we come to apply these various causes to ulcer of the stomach, we find that several of these causes might operate. So far as mechanical abrasion is concerned, we know that in nursing calves, when they are taken away from their mothers too soon and given rough fodder, ulcers will be produced in the stomach. It has been supposed that there is a human type of body which goes with ulcer of the stomach, it being distinguished by a thin, tapering jaw, poor teeth and small jaw bones. Perhaps the reason this type of patient develops ulcer is that he does not chew his food sufficiently. This, however, is rather a far-fetched explanation.

Under chemical causes we know that we have an excessive amount of acid in the stomach contents in ulcer, but we do not believe that this is sufficient to cause the ulcer itself, although it may keep it open and prevent it from healing.

So far as infection is concerned, we have some very suggestive researches which indicate that focal infection in the teeth or tonsils by a certain kind of germ may have an affinity for the mucous membrane of the stomach, and lighting there, form an ulcer.

The question of trophic disturbances is a most interesting one, and there are many indications that ulcer may be hereditary. Out of 150 cases of ulcer there was a family history of stomach trouble, usually ulcer, in nearly 22 per cent, according to Aschner, while a controlled series of 200 cases showed ulcer in only 4½ per cent. Dawne reported eight cases of ulcer in all of which there was a family history of the same condition.

In one family there was a mother and four sons who had ulcer of the stomach. Wilkie, in 1927, reported that he had two families in each of which three sisters had to be operated on for duodenal ulcer.

Whatever the cause, we know that ulcer has a tendency to heal and given opportunities of rest, a bland diet, and neutralization of the acid, it will do so. We also know, however, that it has a tendency to re-

THIRD SESSION CAPTIVATES HUNDREDS OF HOUSEKEEPERS

"I hope we have a Cooking School every year," said one of the enthusiastic housewives of Circleville yesterday after the third session of The Herald Cooking School. "Nothing helps women more, to do their housework, feed their families and make happy homes."

That is evidently the sentiment of many other women, if their attendance and rapt attention of the School sessions can be taken as evidence.

Yesterday's crowds were full of questions.

"But I want them to ask questions!" exclaimed Mrs. George O. Thurn yesterday after the successful program of the big Cooking School had been brought to a close. "And invite each woman to meet me on the platform afterwards, I feel I know every one of them as old friends now after these two days of Cooking School but it is a great pleasure to speak to them personally, to perhaps be able to answer some question in person, which could not be answered to the audience as a whole.

Teacher Enthusiastic

Mrs. Thurn's enthusiasm helps to make the success of The Herald Cooking School. And besides enthusiasm, she is bringing to the women of Circleville a vast fund of homemaking knowledge; new recipes at each session, new ideas, new tricks with mixing, new suggestions for menu planning.

The audience's questions at the third session continued to be one of the most interesting phases of the School and Mrs. Thurn expressed her pleasure at the interest the women of Circleville take in cooking and homemaking, as shown by the questions. A number of women reported that they had tried yesterday's recipes on their family already and with good results.

The crowd at Thursday's session was swelled by the attendance of the Home Economics Classes of the sophomore, junior and senior grades of Circleville High School and students from the Williamsport and Laureville High Schools.

The stage setting which included the newest models in Tappan ranges and the Rex Water Heater furnished by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., the General Electric Refrigerator from the Southern Ohio Electric Co., the Kitchen Cabinet and dining room suit from Stevensons and the floral decorations from Brehrer Greenhouses again created much interest for the audience.

Many Fine Dishes

Thursday's program included many interesting dishes such as veal and mushroom loaf, mushroom sauce, peach salad, Tribby's Million dollar cake, chocolate cream icing, and mint delight. As in previous sessions each recipe was explained by Mrs. Thurn to the delight of the audience.

Much interest was shown when the time came for distribution of the well filled baskets and cooked dishes and the women who carried home baskets were Vella LeMay, Ashville; Mrs. Emma Heirima, 222 S. Parkway-st.; Mrs. Howard Moore, 304 S. Court-st.; Mrs. G. Stenrock, 203 S. Scioto-st.; Mrs. Mae Groce, 226 E. Franklin-st.; Mrs. F. C. Steele, 403 S. Scioto-st.; Mrs. A. M. Voll, 452 E. Franklin-st.; Mrs. Nell Goodman, 203 W. Mill-st.; Mrs. Andrew Schwarz, Williamsport, and Mrs. C. H. Rason, Commercial Point.

Mrs. G. I. Nickerson, 407 S. Court-st. was awarded the salad, the flowers went to Mrs. George May, 451 E. Franklin-st., the pie to Mrs. William Bivens, 164 Watt-st., and the meat loaf to Mrs. Grace Elma, 315 W. Corwin-st.

The hall filled rapidly for the last session today and in addition to the baskets and cooked dishes the gifts donated by participating merchants will be awarded at the closing of the session.

STUDENTS APPEAR AT ROTARY CLUB

Reasons for and against inflation were given at the Rotary meeting Thursday noon when Tillie Davis took the affirmative side and Ann Denman the negative. Both are juniors at Circleville High School.

Next Monday club members journey to Logan to be guests of the Logan club. Frank Fischer, superintendent of schools, will be the speaker at this joint meeting.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Corrects Constipation*

An enthusiastic and voluntary letter: "We have a daughter who has been troubled all her life with constipation." About three months ago, we discovered ALL-BRAN. From that day to now we have not given her any form of laxative.

We have become "ALL-BRAN" users, and now it is a part of our daily diet. We have told many of our friends and they, too, are getting results. "Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Pope, 522 Maple Ave., Elmira, N.Y."

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to aid regular habits. It also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is often more effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Isn't this food much pleasanter and safer than risking patent medicines? Get the red and green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

New Servings For An Old Favorite

When the question comes up as to what is your family's favorite meat dish, the answer is likely to be ham.

A resourceful homemaker may buy a whole ham for economy and convenience. The ham can be cooked in the refrigerator for several weeks without any danger of its deteriorating in any way. Serve ham in a variety of ways to avoid tiring the family of the meat. It would not be wise to use it more than twice a week to keep up their flavor interest, but with modern refrigeration, storage between times is no longer a problem. Wrap well in air-proof paper when storing.

Have you ever had Ham Baked with Dried Lima's? Soak 1 cup of dried lima's overnight in cold water. Drain, put in a baking dish, cover with a layer of sliced onions, add one cup water and top with a slice of raw ham. Bake covered one hour in a moderate oven (325 degrees). Uncover and bake 30 minutes longer. Serve with cabbage salad.

Baked Ham With Orange
Place a ham, fat side up, in a baking pan. Add one cup water and bake at 300 degrees until tender. Allow about 20 minutes to the pound. Take from the oven, remove rind, score fat, pat in brown sugar and stick small diamonds of orange peel in the fat. Remove excess fat from pan and replace ham in the oven set at 350 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes. Baste 4 times with 1/2 cup of orange juice for each basting. When well browned, remove from the oven and serve hot.

Ham Cheese Croquettes
Combine 2 cups hot mashed potatoes with the lightly beaten yolks of 3 eggs. Blend with 1 cup minced ham and 1 cup grated American cheese. Add salt and paprika to taste. Form into balls or pyramids. Crumb in the usual manner. Fry 3 to 5 minutes in deep fat at 375 degrees.

Caribbean Meat Pie
3 Tbsp. shortening
3 Tbsp. flour
1 C. stock
1/2 C. diced chicken
1/2 C. diced ham
3 chopped green olives
1/2 tsp. curry powder
1 C. canned corn

Make a paste of the flour and shortening. When combined, add stock or gravy, and cook until thickened. Add chicken, ham, olives and curry. Put in a baking dish and cover with canned corn. Bake until brown (about 20 minutes) at 400 degrees.

Ham lends itself delightfully to variety. For instance, a slice of raw ham may be baked or broiled, topped with slices of canned pineapple, with whole bananas, with apple slices, with sliced white potatoes, with dried apricots, and with many other foods.

DERBY

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Rodman moved to their own farm this week. They have been living at the residence of I. C. Hall house here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Musselman last week moved to the home of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. David Musselman St. with whom they will manage the home place.

Mrs. Isel White spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tommes of Middletown.

Miss Maude Blaine's Sunday monthly meeting and party at the school class held their regular home of Mrs. Agnes Mathias last Thursday evening.

The Ladies Aid Society met last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Nellie Bauman.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Redman moved last week from the Alex Rod-

FOUR TILTS IN COUNTY MEET ON SCHEDULE

Darby and Pickaway Pry Off Second Round Lid; Finals Saturday Night

Four basketball games, all of which should be interesting, are scheduled for this evening at the CAC in the second round of the Pickaway-co basketball tournament.

The first game brings Darby and Pickaway together with the former the favorite but not by a large margin. This starts at 7 o'clock.

The second, an hour later, matches Atlanta and Walnut and the fur will probably fly in this fray. Atlanta put out Washington 46-6 while Walnut was victorious over Muhlberg in what started as a fast game but ended in a Walnut walkaway.

The New Holland team, favorites to snatch the tourney for the fourth straight year, meets Scioto in the 9 o'clock game. New Holland as you probably remember defeated the favored Ashville team. Scioto has not yet appeared in the tourney, drawing a first round bye.

The 10 p. m. game finds Jackson and Deer Creek matching strides. Deer Creek was byed through the first round. Jackson turned back Salsceek.

Kroger Babb, Wilmington official, will again be in charge of the whistling end of the evening entertainment.

Saturday will see the end of the tournament with afternoon and evening games.

BALDWIN-WALLACE TOPS CONFERENCE

By International News Service

With a victory over Akron, the defending champion, tucked away, Baldwin Wallace's basketball squad, bounded along toward an Ohio conference championship today.

The B-W squad turned the trick over Akron last night to the tune of 38 to 33. Akron held Ward Powell, the Berkins one-man threat, to 11 points but the other members of the Yellow Jackets began clicking.

Results of other games played last night were:

Capital 38, Kenyon 29
Ashland 45, Penn 32
Findlay 43, Toledo S., Johns 26
Huntington, Ind., 34, Defiance 33

There is a bit of rah-rah in the last game. Defiance until its last three games was widely publicized as the only unbeaten cage squad in the state. But beaten in a row by Bluffton, Griffin and Huntington, it has become a "forgotten team."

LAFFOON SETTING GOLFERS' PACE

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 1. Shining purses in nine golf events, Ky Laf-fon, Chicago, winner of the Ryder cup for lowest score average during 1934, today led the field in the first two months of 1935 with prize winnings of $2,514.

Three other youthful professionals are next in order: Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., with $2,460, second; Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Kansas City, Kan., third with $2-

037; and John Revolta, Milwaukee, fourth with $2,013.

MacDonald Smith, Rumson, N. J., first of the veterans from the standpoint of earnings in tournaments so far this year, holds fifth place with $1,750.

Walter Hagen, Detroit, aided by his win in the Gasparilla open at Tampa with an even par 280, is in fourth place with $1,368.

BUCK CAGERS END SEASON

Wolverines Provide Opposition; Dye Becomes Star of Defense

COLUMBUS, March 1. — Ohio State University's surprise basketball team will close its season Saturday night at the Fairgrounds coliseum when the University of Michigan plays a return game here. In the first meeting of the two schools earlier in the season Ohio was victorious, 33 to 30.

To date the Buckeyes have won 12 games and lost six, scored 594 points as compared with 549 for their opponents and have played to the record breaking crowd of 79,805 persons.

Regardless of the outcome of the Michigan game Saturday night the Ohio State team has broken even or is ahead of every Big Ten team with the exception of Illinois which won two straight from the Ohioans. Outside the conference the Bucks won four and lost two encounters.

Warren Whitlinger, forward, continues to lead the team in individual scoring with 127 markers while Tippy Dye, guard, has compiled the best defensive record of any member on the squad. Dye's best accomplishment this season has been the holding of Norm Cotton, Purdue's star forward to a single field goal in two games.

Coach Olsen will start the same lineup Saturday night, Whitlinger at center; Dye and Captain Bill Beitter at the guard posts.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Walnut Versus Atlanta

The big game of the county tourney this evening will be that between Walnut and Atlanta. Both teams looked good against their opponents last week and fans generally believe the winner will meet New Holland in the finals. Don't forget that Darby team in the upper bracket, though, with its big center, Hicks, and clever forward, Bob Green.

Two High Scorers
The two high scorers of the tournament to date, Stevenson and Bentley of the Perry team, will be in this game.

Cage Game Too Slow

A Cincinnati sports writer says the following:
Basket ball isn't as fast as it ought to be. Too much officiating is ruining the game from the spectator's angle. A Western Conference coach recently threw some light on the subject by means of statistics gathered at a number of Big Ten games. Here are his findings:

There are a total of 108 interruptions in the average basketball game. . . . The actual playing time of an entire game is 29 minutes and 30 seconds. . . . The longest playing periods average 2 minutes and 22 seconds. . . . The shortest playing period without a stop is one second. . . . There are 19 jump balls in the average game. . . . There are 31 center jumps in the average game. . . . The average number of free throws is 15. . . . The average number of out-of-bounds is 40. . . . Twenty baskets is the average number scored per game.

From Ohio State
While breaking even in a pair of basketball games Ohio State and Purdue have also broken even in the total number of points scored, each having 81. The first game was 42 to 41 for Purdue and the second 40-39 for Ohio State.

With a record breaking crowd of 7,883 persons on hand to witness the Purdue game last Saturday night the Ohio State cagers boosted their total attendance for the season to 79,805 persons.

They are singing the praises of Tippy Dye, Ohio State's mite guard, around the Western Conference. In two games he held the highly rated Purdue forward, Norm Cotton, to a total of one field basket and two fouls. Stanley Feezle, Indianapolis referee, rates him as the best guard in the Big Ten. Incidentally Dye has scored 84 points this season.

Jesse Owens, the Buckeye comet, is out for some kind of a record or the other in Ohio State track history. In two dual meets this season he has personally accounted for 38 points and four records.

FOUR TILTS IN COUNTY MEET ON SCHEDULE

Darby and Pickaway Pry Off Second Round Lid; Finals Saturday Night

Four basketball games, all of which should be interesting, are scheduled for this evening at the CAC in the second round of the Pickaway-co basketball tournament.

The first game brings Darby and Pickaway together with the former the favorite but not by a large margin. This starts at 7 o'clock.

The second, an hour later, matches Atlanta and Walnut and the fur will probably fly in this fray. Atlanta put out Washington 46-6 while Walnut was victorious over Muhlenberg in what started as a fast game but ended in a Walnut walkaway.

The New Holland team, favorites to snatch the tourney for the fourth straight year, meets Scioto in the 9 o'clock game. New Holland as you probably remember defeated the favored Ashville team. Scioto has not yet appeared in the tourney, drawing a first round bye.

The 10 p. m. game finds Jackson and Deer creek matching strides. Deer creek was byed through the first round. Jackson turned back Salt creek.

Kroger Babb, Wilmington official, will again be in charge of the whistling end of the evening entertainment.

Saturday will see the end of the tournament with afternoon and evening games.

BABE TO MANAGE BRAVES IN 1936

BOSTON, Mar. 1—Babe Ruth will become manager of the Boston Braves in 1936-37 if he proves he is qualified for the post.

Bill McKeechie, present manager of the club, will be promoted to position of general manager, similar to that held by Eddie Collins of the Red Sox, if he so elects.

This season Ruth will be just a player. He will play in any position, except the sun-field, and at any time Bill McKeechie calls him. He hopes to play in 100 games. It was reported Ruth will receive $40,000 a year for the three seasons.

This was the status of Babe Ruth today.

His three-year contract, signed and tucked away, Ruth was headed for New York and then south for St. Petersburg, Fla., to join the club in training.

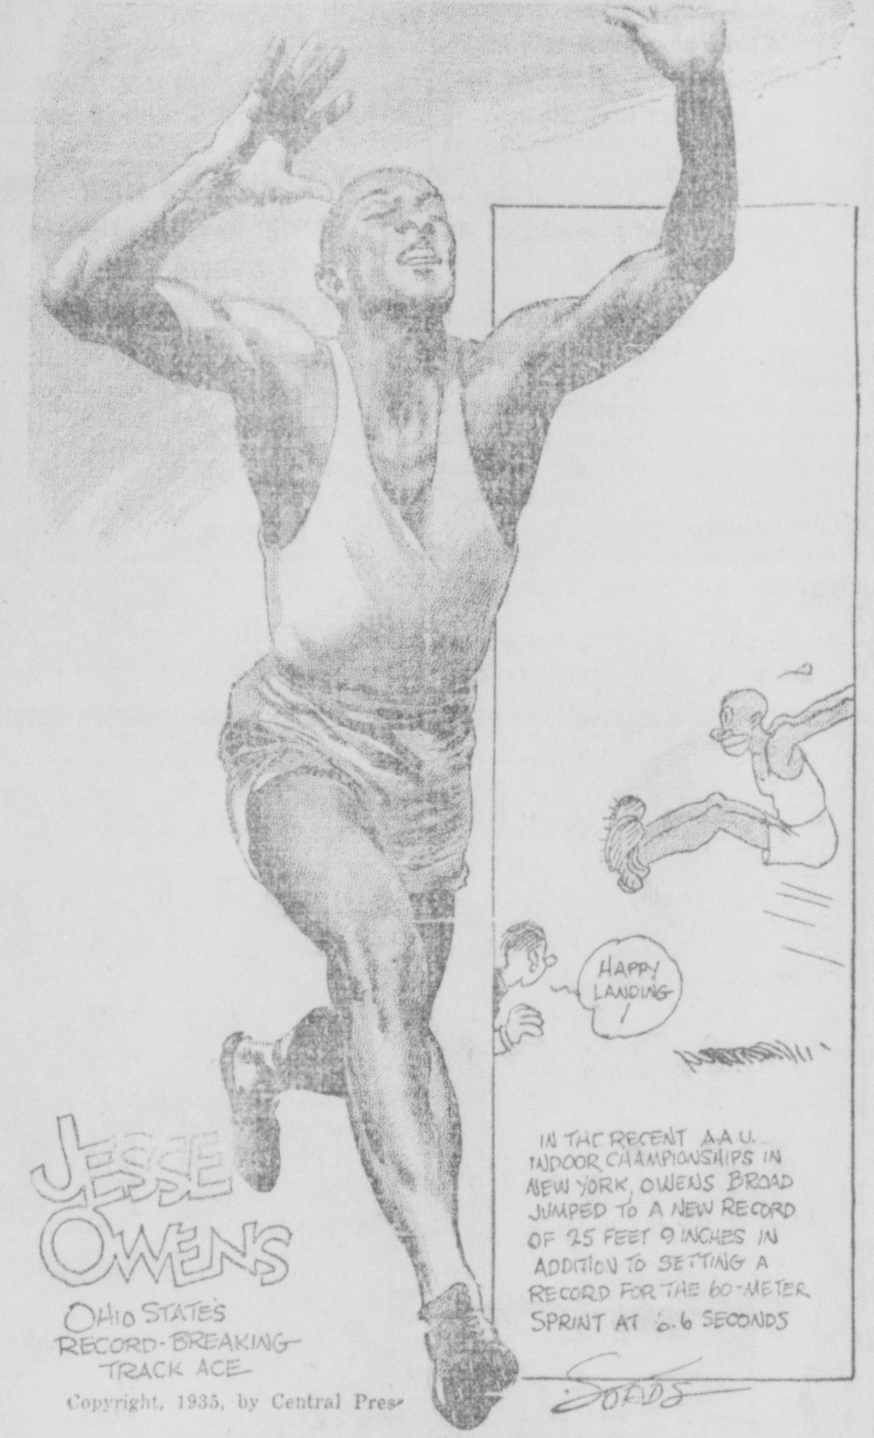

"The Bam" was given a tremendous ovation on his "return home" after 15 years absence from the city where he started to baseball fame. Thousands broke through police lines and crowded about him, cheering him to the echo, after he and Mrs. Claire Ruth stepped from a New York train. They followed him in droves until he found rescue in his hotel nearby.

Praise upon praise was heaped upon his broad shoulders from the time he arrived until he left for New York at midnight.

BALDWIN-WALLACE TOPS CONFERENCE

By International News Service
With a victory over Akron, the defending champion, tucked away, Baldwin Wallace's basketball squad bounded along toward an Ohio conference championship today.

The B-W squad turned the trick over Akron last night to the tune of 38 to 33. Akron held Ward Powell, the Berens one-man threat, to 11 points but the other members of the Yellow Jackets began clicking.

Results of other games played last night were:
Capital 38, Kenyon 29.
Ashland 45, Penn 32.
Findlay 43, Toledo St. Johns 26.
Huntington, Ind., 34, Defiance 33.

There is a bit of patbos in the last game. Defiance until its last three games was widely publicized as the only unbeaten cage squad in the state. But beaten in a row by Bluffton, Giffin and Huntington, it has become a "forgotten team."

LAFFOON SETTING GOLFERS' PACE

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 1—Sharing purses in nine golf events, Ky Laffoon, Chicago, winner of the Radix cup for lowest score average during 1934, today led the field for the first two months of 1935 with prize winnings of $2,514.

Three other youthful professionals are next in order: Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., with $2,460, second; Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Kansas City, Kan., third with $2,

BUCK CAGERS END SEASON

Wolverines Provide Opposition; Dye Becomes Star of Defense

COLUMBUS, March 1—Ohio State University's surprise basketball team will close its season Saturday night at the Fairgrounds coliseum when the University of Michigan plays a return game here. In the first meeting of the two schools earlier in the season Ohio was victorious, 33 to 30.

To date the Buckeyes have won 12 games and lost six, scored 594 points as compared with 549 for their opponents and have played to the record breaking crowd of 79,805 persons.

Regardless of the outcome of the Michigan game Saturday night the Ohio State team has broken even or is ahead of every Big Ten team with the exception of Illinois which won two straight from the Ohioans. Outside the conference the Bucks won four and lost two encounters.

Warner Whittlinger, forward, continues to lead the team in individual scoring with 127 markers while Tippy Dye, guard, has compiled the best defensive record of any member on the squad. Dye's best accomplishment this season has been the holding of Norm Cotton, Purdue's star forward to a single field goal in two games.

Coach Olsen will start the same lineup Saturday night, Whittlinger and Wilson at forwards, Thomas at center; Dye and Captain Bill Beitner at the guard posts.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER
Walnut Versus Atlanta

The big game of the county tourney this evening will be that between Walnut-tpw and Atlanta—Both teams looked good against their opponents last week and fans generally believe the winner will meet New Holland in the finals—Don't forget that Darby team in the upper bracket, though, with its big center, Hicks, and clever forward, Bob Green.

Two High Scorers
The two high scorers of the tournament to date, Stevenson and Bentley of the Perry team, will be in this game.

Cage Game Too Slow
A Cincinnati sports writer says the following:
Basket ball isn't as fast as it ought to be. Too much officiating is ruling the game from the spectator's angle. A Western Conference coach recently threw some light on the subject by means of statistics gathered at a number of Big Ten games. Here are his findings:

There are a total of 108 interruptions in the average basket ball game. . . The actual playing time of an entire game is 29 minutes and 30 seconds. . . The longest playing periods average 2 minutes and 22 seconds. . . The shortest playing period without a stop is one second. . . There are 19 jump balls in the average game. . . There are 31 center jumps in the average game. . . The average number of free throws is 15. . . The average number of out-of-bounds is 40. . . Twenty baskets is the average number scored per game.

From Ohio State
While breaking even in a pair of basketball games Ohio State and Purdue have also broken even in the total number of points scored, each having 81. The first game was 42 to 41 for Purdue and the second 40-39 for Ohio State.

With a record breaking crowd of 7,883 persons on hand to witness the Purdue game last Saturday night the Ohio State cagers boosted their total attendance for the season to 79,805 persons.

They are singing the praises of Tippy Dye, Ohio State's mite guard, around the Western Conference. In two games he held the highly rated Purdue forward, Norm Cotton, to a total of one field basket and two fouls. Stanley Feezie, Indianapolis referee, rates him as the best guard in the Big Ten. Incidentally Dye has scored 84 points this season.

Jesse Owens, the Buckeye comet, is out for some kind of a record or the other in Ohio State track history. In two dual meets this season he has personally accounted for 38 points and four records.

bill; and the Thomas-Massingale agricultural cost of production guarantee bill.

The Administration is opposed to both on the ground that they are inflationary. If the White House has its way they will never emerge from the Senate and House Agricultural committees to which they were referred.

But it is possible that the Administration will not have its way. The reason is the Farmers' Union, plus Father Coughlin.

The farm organization is sponsoring both measures and has an aggressive lobby at work behind the scenes trying to force action. To aid it in blasting open the legislative doors, the Union has sought and obtained the powerful support of Coughlin.

He has agreed to campaign for the bills in his Sunday afternoon radio talks. If it becomes necessary, he may call for another deluge of telegrams.
When he asked for such a demonstration against the World Court, the result was 40,000 messages in 24 hours.

Maine's Moran

In Edward Carleton Moran, Jr., Maine has a political phenomenon—a Democrat who has carried his rock-ribbed Republican district in two successive congressional elections.

The reason is understandable when you read the record.

Long before repeal was politically safe Moran was denouncing prohibition. Along with former Governor Ralph O. Brewster, now Republican Representative, Moran was one of the leaders in the fight against the Insull power interest when that dethroned magnate was the mightily utility ruler of the state.

An overseas veteran with a distinguished battle record and a commander of the local Legion post, Moran has been a staunch upholder of the American tradition of freedom of speech.

Some years ago Frederick Libby, noted pacifist, was billed to make a speech in a town near Moran's home.

When Libby arrived, the owner of the hall where he was to appear refused him entrance. There was no other place where he could talk. Libby was preparing to leave town when he received a telephone call from Moran, whom he did not know.

"I just heard what has happened to you," Moran said. "I don't agree with your views, but I do believe in your right to express them. If you want to come to my town and talk, our Legion post will give you a hearing."

Libby accepted and addressed a large audience—presided over by Moran as Legion commander.

CHILLICOTHE TO BORROW TO MEET PAYROLL

Council Spends Long Sessions Discussing Appropriation Ordinance

CHILLICOTHE, March 1.—Chilllicothe's city council, meeting Wednesday for its third successive night, passed two hours in futile debate on an appropriations ordinance, but did manage to get together long enough to authorize the borrowing of $10,000 to pay overdue salaries, and to repeal the 48c gas rate ordinance that its own firm of engineers had failed to sustain.

Mayor W. S. Barrett quit the lengthy conference of the appropriations ordinance that preceded the formal meeting, when the "Big Four" made an offer that in effect meant the trading of two clerkships for jobs of two firemen.

Barrett's View
In a statement today, the mayor said it made no difference to him whether council ever passed an ordinance to supplement the original appropriations measure now in effect.

He pointed out that necessary functions of the city were covered in the original, and explained that the items he had vetoed were of a contractual nature, which the city will have to pay anyway.

Must Meet Contacts
The city has contacts and must pay for light and power service, he explained. Clerks, the auditor, police court and fire department departments as well as the city engineer were appointed for definite terms and the city will have to pay them for their services. The solicitor has advised council the positions cannot be tampered with during their terms, the mayor went on. Hence about the only things that will be lacking are funds to keep up equipment of police and fire departments, and pay old bills of the safety departments and meet relief needs.

MOTOR STRIKE

that their men were instructed not to take part in the election, and the many of them who did vote voted "unaffiliated."

The A. F. of L. action results from the rift between the labor unions and the automobile labor board which President Roosevelt set up almost a year ago to avert a similar strike threat. The federation recently served notice on the White House that it had repudiated the labor board, and would henceforth proceed independently toward agreements with the employers.

Chief cause of the federation's bitter feeling toward the board, headed by Dr. Leo Wolman, is the board's insistence upon the principle of "proportional representation" on collective bargaining. The A. F. of L. maintains the principle of "majority rule."

Two Principles
Briefly, the two principles are as follows:
Proportional representation—the thesis that when workers in a plant are divided as to who shall represent them in collective bargaining activities, each agency shall be empowered in proportion to the strength of its backing among the workers.

Majority rule—that the collective bargaining representative favored by the majority of workers in a plant shall act for all the workers in that plant.

'BABY BONDS' PUT ON SALE

President Buys First Bond; Some Post Offices Report Many Calls

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Uncle Sam's newest securities—"baby bonds"—went on sale in 14,000 post offices from coast to coast today.

President Roosevelt bought the first of the issue in his office.

The issue is unlimited. Some post offices, supplied with the bonds several days ago, have already asked that the supply be doubled, in anticipation of a "sell-out" today. Surprisingly, there were many anticipatory demands for the bonds of larger denominations, the $500 and $1,000 size.

The $1,000 bonds cost $750 now, and are not worth their full value until maturity, ten years hence.

Here in the capital the post offices revealed they have had many calls for the new bonds. The post office in the treasury building has been holding a check for $7,500 payment for $10,000 worth of bonds at maturity, for the last several days. The bonds will be delivered today.

ONE ON DAD
"I'm sorry to say it, Henry," said the teacher, "but your composition of the depression is very poor. The statements are not based on the facts, the style is very crude and even the grammar is bad."
"Dad'll be mad when I tell him what you said," replied Henry.
"But you can tell him you will do better next time," responded the teacher.
"Do better?" the boy exclaimed; "why it was dad who wrote the whole composition and that's the best he can do."

HAWKS' FLIGHT TO SOUTH POSTPONED

NEW YORK, March 1.—Captain Frank Hawks, American speed ace, took off from Floyd Bennett field at 9:32 a. m. today for Los Angeles to consult with officials of the Northrup corporation, plane manufacturers, who have postponed his projected South American flight.

Hawks received a telegram asking him to cancel the flight a few hours before he was scheduled to take off from Newark airport for Havana in a new single-motored Northrup attack monoplane.

The noted speed flyer was reticent concerning the reason for the change in his plans.

"All I know is that I have been re-called to California," Hawks said. "I am working for the Northrup organization and of course must go."

Hawks contemplated trip was understood to be dual in purpose. Its primary purpose was to demonstrate the possibilities of a fast, single motored American plane, and secondly to make a preliminary route survey for the proposed international air race around South America and across North America.

MARCH COMES IN LIKE LAMB; HOW WILL IT LEAVE?

COLUMBUS, March 1.—U. S. Government forecaster W. H. Alexander today reported—in his own words—"March came in like a very humble lamb today."

"Temperatures were in the high 40's as the cold wave definitely ended and Alexander said the weather tomorrow would be fair with temperatures rising as high as 50 degrees.

"As far ahead as I can see now," he predicted, "The weather will be mild."

Alexander, however, refused to hazard a prediction as to whether March would go out like a lion in keeping with the old saying "In like a lamb, out like a lion" or the opposite. In fact he was downright skeptical.

"I don't think there's any truth in that," he said.

ASHVILLE

Allen Greger, of Kent, Washington, has returned to his home after spending the past six months with relatives and friends here. Mrs. Nellie Loehr of Patricksburg, Ind., spent the past week as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Cora Brinker.

Mrs. Mary Young has returned home after spending most of the winter with her children in Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cromley are spending several days with Mrs. Fred Martin, of Newark.

Dick Baker of Chicago spent Feb. 22 with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Baker.

Mrs. W. S. Plum and son spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lowe of New Lexington, Ohio.

Miss Blanche Bowers of Columbus was the week-end guest of her brother, Mr. Earl Bowers and family.

Several women from Ashville attended The Herald Cooking School the past week.

Mrs. Scot Scotchorn spent the week-end as guest of Mrs. Harold Morris and family of Youngstown. Mrs. Elde Behnke and daughter of Lodi, Ohio, spent the week-end with Rev. T. M. Ricketts.

Rev. Herman D. Fudge and family, formerly of Trenton, are now occupying the Luther Parsonage, left vacant when Rev. H. H. Glick accepted a call to Bucyrus. Rev. Fudge will be installed Sunday morning by his father, Rev. L. Fudge of Canal Fulton.

Henry Gloyd purchased the Mrs. Luella Sampson property on Scioto at sheriff's sale for $634.00.

Reports from Grant hospital, Columbus, Wednesday, as to the condition of Daniel Runkle, Walnut-twp farmer, whose leg was amputated below the knee, Sunday, to check the ravages of blood poisoning, are that he is getting along nicely and may be brought home within the next ten days.

Walnut-twp W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. W. C. Pontius, Tuesday afternoon.

A. H. Ward was summoned to Rockdale, Ky., Saturday, by the death of his brother-in-law, Bud Foster.

Mrs. H. A. eBaver of Columbus, visited Mrs. Sophia Briggs last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Ward, Jr., returned from Long-st to the Hice property on Walnut-st this week.

Treat Constipation THE WAY THAT DOCTORS DO

Use A Liquid Laxative

Doctors and hospitals have always used liquid laxatives. So would you, if you knew how well they do their work—how much better you feel.

A liquid laxative can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Ask your doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly without any help.

Once you have experienced this comfort, you will never return to any form of help that does not encourage variation from the "fixed dose" too often an overdose for sensitive persons, or young people.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit—even in children. Its action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve a condition of biliousness or sluggishness without upset. It's the ideal family laxative because it's a doctor's prescription, and safe.

Try Syrup Pepsin. Give regulated doses until Nature restores regularity. Those who have made the "liquid test" know why a doctor favors a liquid laxative.

CHILlicothe TO BORROW TO MEET PAYROLL

Council Spends Long Sessions Discussing Appropriation Ordinance

CHILlicothe, March 1—Chillicothe's city council, meeting Wednesday for its third successive night, passed two hours in futile debate on an appropriations ordinance, but did manage to get together long enough to authorize the borrowing of $10,000 to pay overdue salaries, and to repeal the 48c gas rate ordinance that its own firm of engineers had failed to sustain.

Mayor W. S. Barrett quit the lengthy conference of the appropriations ordinance that preceded the formal meeting, when the "Big Four" made an offer that in effect meant the trading of two clerkships for jobs of two firemen.

Barrett's View
In a statement today, the mayor said it made no difference to him whether council ever passed an ordinance to supplement the original appropriations measure now in effect.

He pointed out that necessary functions of the city were covered in the original, and explained that the items he had vetoed were of a contractual nature, which the city will have to pay anyway.

Must Meet Contacts
The city has contracts and must pay for light and water service, he explained. Clerks of the auditor, police court and service-safety departments as well as the city engineer were appointed for definite terms and the city will have to pay them for their services. The solicitor has advised council the positions cannot be tampered with during their terms, the mayor went on. Hence about the only things that will be lacking are funds to keep up equipment of police and fire departments, and pay old bills of the safety departments and meet relief needs.

that their men were instructed not to take part in the elections, and the many of them who did vote voted "unaffiliated."

The A. F. of L. action results from the rift between the labor unions and the automobile labor board which President Roosevelt set up almost a year ago to avert a similar strike threat. The federation recently served notice on the White House that it had repudiated the labor board, and would henceforth proceed independently toward agreements with the employers.

Chief cause of the federation's bitter feeling toward the board, headed by Dr. Leo Wolman, is the board's insistence upon the principle of "proportional representation" on collective bargaining. The A. F. of L. maintains the principle of "majority rule."

Two Principles

Briefly, the two principles are as follows:
Proportional representation—the thesis that when workers in a plant are divided as to who shall represent them in collective bargaining activities, each agency shall be empowered in proportion to the strength of its backing among the workers.
Majority rule—that the collective bargaining representative favored by the majority of workers in a plant shall act for all the workers in that plant.

'BABY BONDS' PUT ON SALE

President Buys First Bond; Some Post Offices Report Many Calls

WASHINGTON, March 1—Uncle Sam's newest securities—"baby bonds"—went on sale in 14,000 post offices from coast to coast today.

President Roosevelt bought the first of the issue in his office. The issue is unlimited. Some post offices, supplied with the bonds several days ago, have already asked that the supply be doubled, in anticipation of a "sell-out" today. Surprisingly, there were many anticipatory demands for the bonds of larger denominations, the $500 and $1,000 size.

The $1,000 bonds cost $750 now, and are not worth their full value until maturity, ten years hence.

Here in the capital the post offices revealed they have had many calls for the new bonds. The post office in the treasury building has been holding a check for $7,500 payment for $10,000 worth of bonds at maturity, for the last several days. The bonds will be delivered today.

ONE ON DAD

"I'm sorry to say it, Henry," said the teacher, "but your composition of the depression is very poor. The statements are not based on the facts, the style is very crude and even the grammar is bad."
"Dad'll be mad when I tell him what you said," replied Henry.
"But you can tell him you will do better next time," responded the teacher.
"Do better!" the boy exclaimed; "why it was dad who wrote the whole composition and that's the best he can do."
